

Professor Claudia V. Angelelli is Chair in Multilingualism and Communication at Heriot-Watt University (Edinburgh campus), Emeritus Professor of Spanish Linguistics at San Diego State University and Visiting Professor at Beijing University of Foreign Studies. Her research sits at the intersection of Sociolinguistics, Applied Linguistics and Translation and Interpreting Studies. She holds a Ph.D. from Stanford University, a master of arts and two PG Certificates from Middlebury Institute of International Studies at Monterey (MIIIS), and a bachelor of arts from Universidad Católica Argentina. She is the author and (co)-editor of various academic volumes and numerous articles in high-impact journals. She has led research projects in Argentina, Australia, the European Union and the United States. Professor Angelelli is Past President of the American Translation and Interpreting Studies Association and served as the Director of the American Translators Association for six years. She has been the world project leader for ISO 13611: Standards on Community Interpreting and she co-authored The California Standards for Health Care Interpreters: Ethical Principles, Protocols, and Guidance on Interpreter Roles and Interventions. Professor Angelelli has extensive experience as a freelancer and consultant in translation and community interpreting.